

Lune & Co — Brand Knowledge Base

Everything true about this business, written down so it can be cited.

Fictional. Prepared as a test document for SparkSocial — every name, number and address below is invented.

What we are

A jewellery and accessories shop. We buy in and sell earrings, necklaces, bracelets, rings and gift sets. We do not make anything, we do not design anything, and we do not alter anything.

Opened February 2023, by Priya Lune.

Staff 4 — all shopfloor and packing. Nobody here is a jeweller.

Shop Unit 12, Northgate Arcade, Leeds. Open Mon–Sat 9.30am–6pm, Sun 11am–4pm.

Online Same stock, same prices, next-day dispatch before 2pm.

What we actually do

We choose what to stock, we photograph it, we sell it, we pack it nicely and we handle the returns. That is the whole job and we are good at it.

We buy from twelve suppliers. We do not name them publicly — it is the one thing that genuinely is commercially sensitive here.

Do not round 11,200 up to "over 15,000". If a number is out of date, say the month it was true.

What we sell

- Earrings — studs, hoops, drops. £9–£45. Our biggest category by far.
- Necklaces — chains, pendants, layered sets. £14–£80.
- Bracelets and rings — £12–£60.
- Gift sets — boxed pairings, £25–£120. Strongest from October.
- Occasion pieces — bridal party, birthdays, christenings.

How we talk

Friendly and useful. We help people choose a gift and we are good at that — most of our customers are buying for someone else and are not confident about jewellery.

We talk about what a piece looks like, who it suits, what it comes with and when it will arrive. Those are the things we actually know.

Things we do not say

The big one: we are not makers. Never "handmade", "handcrafted", "made by us", "our workshop", "designed in-house", "our artisans", "crafted". We buy finished stock from suppliers and sell it. Any post implying otherwise is false and it is the single easiest mistake to make about this business.

Also never:

- Never claim a metal, carat, plating thickness or stone type unless the supplier states it on the product page. Usually they do not. "Gold-tone" is the honest phrase when we do not know.
- Never "hypoallergenic", "nickel-free" or "won't tarnish" — we have not tested anything and we cannot stand behind it.
- Never "solid gold", "real silver" or "fine jewellery". This is fashion jewellery at fashion jewellery prices.
- Never "ethically sourced" or "sustainable". We do not audit twelve suppliers and saying so would be a guess dressed as a fact.
- Never "limited edition" unless a line is genuinely discontinued and we have said so internally first.
- Never "investment" or "heirloom".
- Never anything about the wearer's body — no "flattering", "slimming", "elongating".
- No false urgency: "last chance", "almost gone", "selling fast", "don't miss out". We restock most lines.
- Never name a supplier.

Proof we can show

- The stock itself — we photograph everything we sell, on white and styled.
- The shop floor and the window displays, which we change fortnightly.
- Gift wrapping, which is genuinely ours and genuinely free.
- Packing and dispatch.

- The arcade and the local high street.

What we cannot show: anything being made, any bench, any tools, any workshop. We do not have one. A post that needs a making-of shot is a post this business cannot truthfully produce.

Customer faces require written consent, Hands and the piece otherwise.
